the highest post in the Island under the Saturday, March 19, Governor. It does not rest with the Governor to appoint the Chief Justice, but if he takes upon himself to recommend the Home Government to appoint any gentleman resident in the colony, or what is more if it becomes necessary that he should appoint any Barrister to act temporarily during the absence of the present Chief Justice, unless there is any strong reason urged against the appointmen by some power which will have weight with those in whom the appointment rests a home, there can be very little doubt that the recommendation would be listened Brush and Broomware. to, and the appointment confirmed. Much Long and Short Brooms, has been said about the fitness and ability Hair, Cloth, Hat, Shoe, Sooth and Nail Brushes of the members of the bar of Vancouve Island from time to time, and arguments have been put forward for and against the appoint ment of some one or other from amongst those gentlemen to fill the office of Chief Justice It is urged, in all colonies, that if promotion does not follow in the colony there is no prospect of getting good men to come there to practice, and on the contrary, it is very forci-bly remarked that the minds of those who have been resident for some time in so contracted a sphere as that of a small colony, and who have been more or less mixed up in the advocacy of every cause which has been before the Court, cannot be free from danger of a slight degree of partiality, which must always be fatal to the proper of our own peculiar case, we cannot conceive it possible that any man of clear judgment and impartial views, could recommend any barrister for the appointment of Chief Justice of this Colony, unless he were thoroughly convinced that he was one who would inspire the respect of the bar and in whom the public would have confidence, not only as a lawyer, but as a man and a gentleman. Boyond this our Chief Justice must be free from all influences which are so easily con-tracted by residence in a small colony like our own, where each inhabitant is more or less known to his neighbor. It will be for Capt. Kennedy well to consider whether after a short residence amongst us, he will be able, or if able willing, to take the responsibility of selecting from the bar of the colony, one fitted in every way to fill the office, and one whose appointment the pro-fession generally, as well as the public would hail with satisfaction. If he cannot, his duty is plain, and he must join the Legislative Assembly in asking the Home Government to send out a Chief Justice from In the Supreme Court of Civil Justice,

> CHAIRMAN. GEORGE CRUICKSHANK, ESQ; DIRECTORS. P. M. BACKUS, ESQ,

200 Shares have been reserved, to be disposed of by the Directors hereafter for the benefit of the Company as circumstances may determine. It is confidently believed by experienced minors that the Bed-rock Flume system will werk an entire revolution in the mining operation of Cariboo, and render large districts available which under the present system are valueless.

Great excitement was caused in 1861 by the rich deposits of gold found on Antler Creek; much ground yielded over $1,000 per foot. It was found, however, that except where the soil was shallow, it was impossible to reach the bed-rock and work to advantage, on accopunt of the immenso amount of water and the looseness of the soil, consequently the Greek gradually became abandoned.

The amount of water and character of the soil are highly favorable for hydraulic working, while the fall in the Creek renders it most suitable for a Bed-rock Flume.

The soil on Antler Creek contains gold generally throughout, from the surface down, whilst the bed-rock deposits have been found to be very rich, the prospects therefore of the undertaking proving most profitable, amount almost to a certainty.

Besides the gold found in the ground, worked by the Company, it will derive great profit from the tailings washed into the flume from adjoining claims; it is this source of revenue alone which renders Bed-rock Flumes so profitable in California.

Under these circumstances the Directors can renders Bed-rock Flumes so profitable in Calf-fernia.

Under these circumstances the Directors can confidently recommend the undertaking to the support of the public.

THE OTHER INCORPORATION BILL.

Dr. Trimble apologized for not having introduced his bill sooner. He proposed to repeal the present supposed act, and establish a new act on an entirely new principle, viz, that of raising taxes by rating, and to do away with the license system. He also proposed that the mayor and councillors should be elected as in the former bill. Also that the Colonial auditor should be auditor for the council, to be assisted by two citizens from each ward. These were the principal features March 17th, 1884.

Cary vs. Grennan.—There not being a sufficient number of special jurymen present, some of the common jury were empannelled with them. The following were the jury: Mr. Lumley Franklin, foremen, Alfred Fellows, J. P. Sayward, R. Homfray, Hardy Gillard, J. P. Davies, R. George and — Dally. Mr. Carswell had a word to say on this In January, 1861, Mr. McTavish bought lots 5 and 6 at auction for the Hudson Bay Company. In November, 1862, I leased them to Grennan and Cranney for $75. In May, 1863, Cary purchased lets 7 and 8. No boundaries existed on the ground in consequence of the lots having been all covered with lumber for some time. When I leased the lots to Grennan and Cranney they asked me to point out the boundaries. I told them that the lots were on the left of a certain post in Wharf street, which is the only landmark that I knew ofthe lots had been previously used by lumber Mr. Carswell and a word to say on this subject. He had understood that $3,000 was to be put down. He would like to know why $2,000 had been put down.

Mr. Young said the Executive had thought the sum sufficient.

Mr. Carswell—Well, as the amount can't be increased there's no use in talking any more about it! the lots had been previously used by lumber dealers indiscriminately. In May, 1863, McAllister and Grennan come to me and McAllister and Grennan come to me and said that Cary bad given them notice that they were on his lots. Drake came to me and told me the same thing. I told him that I did not think Grennan and Oranney were on Mr. Cary's lots. The lots belonging to Mr. Cary are not so valuable as those occupied by Grennan and Oranney belonging to Mr. McTavish; I think $50 a month would be a fair rent for these two lots. EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST,-Although yo f last Saturday you made me a Indeed I am not one, but rejoice in the equally ancient name of "John."

One "Saxon," like many a man in haste to rush into print, has replied to his own

I expressed no opinion upon either the justice or injustice of the exclusion either the justice or mjustice of the excussion of the colored gentlemen from the banquet. I have my own views on the matter and at the proper time will express them. The writer has a desire to say fine things about "home influences," "traching by parents," &c. What on earth have these to do with the subject of my letter? Only in one inwas held in honor of a retiring govarrangements-and that committee decided Dr. Davie from attending? Suppose him there with a glass of generous port in hand drinking to the health of the governor; would he be conniving, acquiescing, or partaking in the views of that committee? There were men at that banquet who have the cause of the colored men at heart and hare labored for them too. I suppose noither the Governor nor anybody else cared whether the dector was there or not. There

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST :- A Mr. A. in

Entron British Colonists:—A Mr. A. in this meraning's issue takes me to task for what his meraning's issue takes me to task for what he asserts to be my bad latin. Well, I suppose he has the right to do so. But for his information I may say I had nothing to do with the making of it. I shall not take up your space by following him through the various definitions of the word Liber. I suppose he will admit that one of its meanings is "free." It may have fifty others. I do not think that I am called upon to state which I mean. I suppose the common sense of mankind would lead them to select the most reasonable obe. If Mr. A had taken the pains to ask what the figures over the arch on Yates street meant, he would have learnt that it was the city coat-of-arm, then there would be no difficulty in understanding what "liber" was intended for. The gentleman who arranged the figure did to the centre figure would be as set of the control for the pressive as the word "Victoria," and that "Victoria Free" would to any ordinary mind be sufficiently sungestive without the adjective "semper." But according to A that would not mead the matter.

And now for that valgar motto, "Adhereo Virtute." I will merely say that wa leave it as we find it, and dare not attempt to mead what we did not make.

And now for that volgar motto, "Adheree Virtute." I will merely say that we leave it as we find it, and dare not attempt to mend what we did not make.

In conclusion, I will say that the three headings, when you can be added. In conclusion, I will say that the three headings, when properly road, will make good sense. When they were connectively read, they were accepted, for their appropriateness and significancy, and it never entered into our minds that we had to seply brains for every Axx that had been crammed with dog latin.

PIDWELL AND CO.

Meteorological Observations.

Editor a British Colon'st, —The publication of certain meteorological observations in the Express of last evening, may tend to convey a wrong idea of the climate of Cariboto. I have not the pleasure of knowing who is the recorder of these observations, but a meteorologist he cannot be cise he would never place his thermometer "to the South, and exposed to the sun's rays," much loss use the phrase "temperate." It is impessible to conjecture the significance conveyed by the terms "night and morning," as well as those of "slight frost and sharp frost;' the former are exceedingly loose whilst the latter do not agree with the registered temperature (vide 6th and 9th Feb. compared with 15th and 16th Feb.)

A register of meteorological observations, to be at all useful must be made carefully and at regular intervals, if not, as seems to be the case of that before me, it is utterly worthless to the man of science and misleads where his good conduct soon brought him into totice, and the excellent education which be the darected paved the way for his premotion. He rose stoop to general the premotion of the publication of the case of the support of the case of the motion. He are the support of the case of the support of the case of the support of the support of the case of the support o of the Cannibal Islands. The best that can be done to protect a purchaser is to give him a title under a decree of a court of equity.

Again, the redemption money is directed to be paid by the treasurer, to the purchaser, or his legal representatives. How is the treasurer to determine who these parties may be? It is sometimes a very difficult matter to determine the legal representatives of a person, and I should recommend the treasurer to be careful that he pay the money to the right person.

A more safe, and decidedly more legal method of reservating unpaid taxes, would be to be the case of that before me, it is utterly worthless to the man of sciency and misleads the uninitiated.

A Good Official Selection--Arthur Edward Kennedy, Esq.

We are glad to observe, from a London journal, that the alministrative abilities of Arthur Edward Kennedy, Esq., are again called into action for the public advantage. This high minded and experienced officer is appointed Governor of Vancouver Island, a British settlement in which all that upright-British settlement in which all that uprightness, firmness, superior intelligence and impartiality can accomplish, will be effected so far as his efforts and influence can extend. If he failed, we know not who could succeed. His services in Western Australia have been spoken of in this journal, and in previous years his generous and manly vindication of the rights of the poor in West Clare more than once adverted to, in terms that scarcely expressed our admiration, that scareely expressed our admiration, founded on knowledge, of the humane and honorable efficer. It is impossible that in any community he could fall short of inspirtheir passage to the upper waters. But—for there is a but—it such an enterprise is quite promising to the concerned parties, what shall be the fate of the numerous native population now scattered all along the River, and who live, we may say exclusively on the salmon fish? Did the company foresee the day when it will become necessary to help those inhabitants when starving at our doors? Will they relieve them, or shall we do it correctives, or will the government take charge of them? It seems to me that the part of the Legislative Council of British Columbia.

For almost twenty years, we have been more or less cognizant of the Goodness like his could not but be concilia-tory, and the clearness of judgment and strength of just purpose that belong to him, must render his accession to office again, a gain to the public, and a permanent benefit to the colony in which, in order, we doubt not, to organize and establish its growing interests, he is to preside.—Munster News.

The Millers and their Men The above is the title of a cleverly written little volume, just issued from the London press, giving a racy and original description of the late prize fight. The following is : A SKETCH OF THE BING. A EXECUTION THE BING.

Failing to get amongst the first three rows, we stand immediately behind the sitters, and within three or four yards of what is eventually King's "corner." The seconds now came on. First we have a grotesque figure in a bright yellow jersey reaching to the knees, whose prematurely agod, albeit cearsely humorous, face is surmounted by a fur-cap thumorous, face is surmounted by a fur-cap. with protruding lappets, which stick up lik banquet. Should this refueal have prevented prevented probable from attending? Suppose him there with a glass of generous port in hand drinking to the health of the governor; and the whitem opponent of Heenan, who is now acting as his "best friend," and who looks acting as nis " oest triend," and who looks as if he had compressed a vast amount of animal indulgence into the last three years. Next, a hard-looking man is pointed out to me as Jack Macdonald, who acts as Mr. Sayers's colleague; while in the smooth-faced, shouting man, who has lost an eye and who jests at his misfortune by velling out. shore Mr. Cary went away; I again saw them in August, thurse was lumber there then on the two lots. I saw Greanan after Cary left the country, I told him that he must move the lumber and the house, or I should have to issue a writ of ejectment agains him. An action of ejectment was commenced.

Mr. Gastineau surveyed the lots and proved that there had been during from them.

Mr. Ring for the defend galled—

And an a sectupon bigher grounds than others, I say such letter demanded a reply.

It is easy to babble alout being an "Eng no part in the disturbance, but are tenderly swathed and wrapped, and are lying almost at full length, motionless and quiet as munimies. An excited gentleman with redrimmed eyes, to my right, here makes a short speech, which it is quite as well did not reach the ears of those to whom it was addressed. "Damme!" said he, "all of ye fight! I came down here to see a mill—its cost me four pounds!—and a mill imust have. I don't care which of ye it is, you're all alike to me; and if I could only see the lot of ye licking into each other for an hour or two, I should go home satisfied." But the storm is abating; and after one or two ineffectual attempts to thrust the thankless office of referee upon other shoulders, the original person (Bell) is accepted, with the comforting assurance that "if he doesn't do wot's right, we'll murder him!" And now the mon are stripped, and the fight is to begin in real earnest. Hecnan, shom of the moustache we see in his portraits, stands forth first, and, proudly looking round, holds out his arms at full length, and displays such cords and thows, such mountains of hard but undulating muscle, as elisit a hearty burst of cheering from all sides. The look of exultant superiority which never left his face until it was expressionless; the laughing indifference with which he came up first, round after round, as if the punishment he received had fallen upon some other person in whom he took little interest; the air of half-idle curiosity with which he seemed to gauge King's powers of endurance, and his palpably firm belief that the ultimate late of his ndversary was a me: a question of time—remind one now of the confidence of the Philhstine, who, when he 'looked about and saw David, distalaine) him; for he IRON HOUSES, SUGAR-SHEDS, ROOFS, Etc TIME 8 the Philistine, who, when he "looked about and saw David, disdained him; for he was but a youth, and ruddy, and of a fair counterance. For though not unequally matched in heigh, the gigantic frame and creet boaring of the American cause him to lock giant-like by the side of his comparatively slim and slightly steoping rival, who seems paintially anxious as to the result. It is no part of my purpose to detail the particulars of the fight itself. I was never reminded of blows falling on "raw meat," nor did the "thuds" impress me as any thing unusual or unexpected. These delicate details have been too imaginatively and sensationally described to need recapitulation, even if they formed a fitting topic for these pages. It appeared to use to be a trial between brute sitength, and, not science, but hard, to content myself with glimpses, over the heads of the crowd, of two tall, nude, appar needs of the crown, of wo tail, nule, appar-ently staggering forms, at uncertain interval-Suddenly I see a spenge in the air, and know that the fight is ozer. When I hear that King has wen—the man whose inanimate frame I saw carried up, with eyes closed and head hanging lossely over the shoulder, but five minutes before—my surprise is bound-less.
